A Proven Approach To Help You Accelerate Business Transformation

Our experts will assess what’s needed to help ensure you have the right capabilities in place.
It all begins with UMT360’s proven approach

UMT360 has developed a proven approach – based on decades of experience with a wide variety of clients – and it’s the key to helping you establish the exact capabilities you’ll need to more effectively orchestrate business transformation. Our experts are uniquely equipped to quickly assess what’s required so you can incrementally establish the right foundation, then map out a path that systematically moves your organization from tactical execution to a more strategic mindset. With the right capabilities in place, your organization can ensure that all execution is connected with strategy and that no investment exists in a vacuum.

From visibility, to insight, to moving beyond traditional PPM

Establishing a solid PPM foundation is essential in order to gain visibility across all projects, which is a critical component to helping you position yourself to more effectively orchestrate business transformation. Our proven approach helps you incrementally build the capabilities you need for success, so you can start treating all projects like the business investments they are, and garner the financial and strategic insight to make better and faster decisions. No initiative or investment exists in a vacuum. By connecting all project, program, capabilities, technology, and product portfolios, you can have a dynamic blueprint of your entire business, helping you more effectively align all execution with strategy.
Start with an assessment to help map out your success

UMT360’s consultants are PPM experts and Microsoft specialists. Leveraging a unique framework, our experts will assess your current capabilities, identifying potential gaps and then providing recommendations for next steps. With a clear understanding of where you are and where you’d like to go, informed by a deep understanding of what’s required to ensure your success, our experts will provide a detailed roadmap for activating the specific capabilities you need – precisely when they’re needed – to enable you to truly orchestrate business transformation.

Best practices and the right technology

Armed with this roadmap, and leveraging a proven framework developed from years of experience with hundreds of client successes, UMT360 packages our proven best practices with the right tools and technology matched to each specific step in your journey. This helps ensure that every solution we provide is tailored for your organization’s unique requirements.
Not just another linear maturity model.

No two companies’ needs are the same. So why go through a rigid set of pre-determined steps that don’t necessarily apply to your unique situation? UMT360’s proven approach focuses on your organization’s distinct needs, and is specifically designed to help you incrementally develop only the capabilities that are essential in helping you achieve the end-state that you desire. Here’s how it works…

1. First, let’s understand your unique requirements.

   The first step is to gain a clear understanding of where you are and where you want to be. Only then can we move to the next step.

2. Then we assess your current capabilities.

   Using our proven framework and leveraging industry best practices, we’ll work with you to gather relevant information on the current state of your PPM processes, tools and people.

3. Next, we determine where you want to go.

   What will your future state look like? Using best practices and armed with the latest tools and techniques, we’ll help you quickly bring that picture into focus.

4. Now, what’s standing between you and success?

   Let’s identify the areas where gaps may exist and give you recommendations about both the right tools and a path forward to help ensure they’re implemented effectively.

5. Let’s design a roadmap for your success.

   Driving meaningful change requires a comprehensive roadmap. We’ll give you a plan of how to get there – with quick wins designed to enhance your organization’s capabilities for long-term success.

6. What are you waiting for? Let’s get started!

   Ready for your no-obligation assessment? Whether it’s a few short hours via virtual meeting or a more dedicated in-person engagement, let’s talk about getting you started!